

The Illustrated Poem of Rama

The meeting of gods in the wonderful halls, they talked about the hateful all.

The head of the god was Brahaman,
who was the maker of all man.

A king with wings had no hair,
he prayed to the god for a heir.

The king prayed and prayed but nothing came but rats,
he had many rice pudding but nothing but that.

he fed his wives the yummy rice,
and in the end he got lots of lice.

The eldest heir was very blue,
However he was the next king to rule his zoo.

The eldest heir was named like mama,
In fact it is Rama.

One wife was mean she told the king to send the heir for 14 years,
The king thought something was wrong with his ear!

The brothers declined but Rama followed his Dharma,
So in the end Rama got good Kharma.

When the eldest was gone one of his bro decided to go,
When they were gone his wife was gone too!

They lived and lived in a home made hut,
that they decided to have nuts!

A witch called Surpanakha liked Rama so she turned into a beautiful women,
She proposed to Rama but Rama declined like a human.

The witch was furious she decied to kill Sita by eating her,
However Rama killed her like a fur.

Rama protected Sita like peanut butter and jam,
And cut off the witches parts like ham.

A few days passes in the hut,
And they had a wonderful time eating nuts.

Sita saw a wonderful deer and sat to Rama to catch it,
Rama protested but decided to go and almost got hit!

Rama was gone and gone and in the end they heard a scream,
Sita said to Rama's brother to go and he made a barrier and scrambled.

A monk came to Sita asking for food,
Sita came and gave the monk his loot.

Sita got caught a bird tried to help,
But the bird got hurt and thought of kelp.

Rama and Lakshmana thought of the worse,
and almost caught a wonderful horse.

They found a bird and the bird helped a bit,
But in the end the bird was lit.

They ran and ran and found an ally,
the ally was the king of monkey's and he lived in a valley.

They asked the monkey for help and help he gave,
They soon were digging Ravana's Grave.

The monkey's name was Hanuman,
In fact he was like a man.

Hanuman found Sita and said he's a friend not a foe,
Sita believed Hanuman but he was captured and they burned him starting from the toe.

They attacked and attacked and in the end Rama slashed Kubhakaarna,
And for that Rama has got good Karma.

Rama kills Ravana the bad one,
The god all cheered and all evil things went from a hundred to none!

Rama and Sita were united and had a good time,
For that Rama went back to the castle and ate a lime.

All was well Rama was king there was peace on earth and the gods cheered,
And in the end the Rama's father still thought his ear was weird.

HOORAY FOR RAMA!!!!
